June 13th, 8pm

Cape May, NJ – Cape May Stage, South Jersey’s #1 Equity theater, is pleased to present a hilarious evening of standup sure to keep you laughing for days! The side-splitting Aaron Kominos-Smith and Nick Cobb will exhibit their raucous comedy as part of Cape May Stage’s acclaimed Second Stage Series. Join them on June 13th at 8pm at the Robert Shackleton Playhouse on the corner of Bank and Lafayette Streets in beautiful downtown Cape May.

With his charming persona, quick wit, and vibrant characters, Aaron Kominos-Smith has been enjoyed by countless audiences. He has performed on both MTV and American Movie Classic, appeared in national television commercials, and joked at colleges across the country. Audiences connect instantly with his charming wit and energetic characters. Although Aaron occasionally performed stand-up while studying architecture in college, he went on to work as a professional in the construction field. He quickly realized that buildings take years to construct while a joke can instantly bring people joy. The thought of remaining an architect (and receiving steady income) could not tear him away from his true passion: comedy. Currently residing in New York City, Aaron always has a microphone in his hand. At just 5’2” there are always big laughs from this little guy, certain to endear himself to all.

Originally from Memphis, TN, Nick Cobb attended Indiana University where he majored in Psychology, learning to obsess over everything from social issues to the meaning of life. This obsession led him to work in his first comedy club, aptly named “The Looney Bin.” It was at a random Beale Street bar where Nick won a stand-up competition, was bitten by the comedy bug and moved to New York to pursue The Dream. Nick has been seen on Comedy Central’s “Live at Gotham,” MTV’s “FN MTV,” AMC’s “Date Night” as well as on “Last Comic Standing” where he not only earned a spot in the semi-finals, but was also featured in a montage of comics recognized for having highly original material. He recently earned a spot as one the “Final Four” comics in the highly anticipated New York Daily News March Madness Comedy competition held at Caroline’s on Broadway. He has also shot several commercials for brands such as Intel, Carmax and most recently, a New York ad campaign. When not performing, Nick is brooding over that one guy in the crowd who was texting during his act.

“Aaron was entertaining and appropriate, which can be hard to find these days. Aaron’s love of the art and passion to pursue a career in comedy is evident in his stage presence and delivery; which provides for an entertaining night of laughter.”

-Audrey Shelton, University of Iowa, Campus Activities Board – Comedy Director

“Aaron is an awesome comedian! His witty style kept our crowd on their toes at our dinner. We look forward to the next time he performs to keep us laughing.”

-Julia Levy, Hillel Advancement Director, NYC
